HOW TO COLLECT URINE FROM YOUR DOG AT HOME

You will need:

- A clean, dry container for urine collection (soup ladles work great!)
- A clean, dry container with a water tight lid for transporting urine*
- A leash
- Your dog

Generally it's fairly simple to collect urine from a dog. You will need a container in which to collect the urine, preferably one with a large opening and/or a handle. It's easiest to collect urine from your dog while he/she is walking on leash and cannot get too far ahead. When your dog squats, or lifts its leg to urinate, position the container underneath to catch it. Then transfer the urine from the collection container to one with a leak proof lid.

Get the urine to us within one hour. If you can't get it to us in that amount of time, place it in the refrigerator. You must get it to us within 24 hours for us to process it.

* Urine cup or Gladware© container or something else you don't ever want to use again
